Young Property Lawyers' Forum 2022 Call for Abstracts – Extended Deadline

The Young Property Lawyers' Forum (YPLF) 2022 invites junior researchers in the field of property law to submit abstracts for its annual conference, to take place virtually in collaboration between the University of Iceland, KU Leuven, Union University School of Law, University of Camerino and University of Glasgow.

The YPLF is an informal network of junior property law researchers, both PhD candidates and those within 5 years of having obtained their doctorate. The YPLF aims to bring property law scholars together from around the world and enable them to discuss their work with each other and with more experienced researchers. The conference provides an informal setting for young researchers to discuss innovative ideas and research in the area of property law, and to seek support in solving problems and improving their research, both in skills and in content. For more information on YPLF see: <http://www.yplf.net/>

This year, the conference will comprise five panels, each hosted by a different university, held over the course of five weeks. The dates, times and themes of each panel are:

Contemporary Property Theory

Hosted by Víðir Smári Petersen, University of Iceland

25th May 2022 – 3pm-4:30pm Central European Summer Time (UTC+2)

Property and Natural Resources

Hosted by Flore Vavourakis, KU Leuven

1st June 2022 – 3pm-4:30pm Central European Summer Time (UTC+2)

Property and Values

Hosted by Aleksa Radonjić, Union University School of Law

8th June 2022 – 3pm-4:30pm Central European Summer Time (UTC+2)

Property and Society in Extraordinary Times

Hosted by Ivan Allegranti, University of Camerino

15th June 2022 – 3pm-4:30pm Central European Summer Time (UTC+2)

Property Law for the Future

Hosted by Jill Robbie, University of Glasgow

22nd June 2022 – 3pm-4:30pm Central European Summer Time (UTC+2)

If you are a junior researcher in property law and you are interested in presenting your research in YPLF 2022, please send an abstract of approx. 300 words to the organisers at yplf@yplf.net by the extended deadline of 5pm on 29th April 2022. Please include your name, affiliation, what year of research you are in and which panel(s) you are seeking to present in. You do not have to submit a full paper to participate in the conference. However, those who do write a paper will have the opportunity to publish the paper in a special issue of an international journal.

Places are limited. The selection criteria are the quality of the research and its originality. We also strive to ensure a diversity of represented legal systems. The YPLF encourages informal discussion, so applicants are encouraged to send in abstracts on work in progress. We will send out confirmations by 6th May 2022. No participation fee applies.

If you have any further queries, please send an e-mail to the organisers at yplf@yplf.net
